About Town

And Country

By TIMOTHEUS T.

"I'm willing to give liberally to the Boy Scout movement in our town but am not interested in supporting Scouting otherwise," is a remark heard frequently about the time of Boy Scout drives.

Ol' Timmo took this remark to a person very much interested in Boy Scout work and the drive for funds that is getting under way to get his reaction to such a statement.

And here is part of what he said:

"Just a little research into the Scouting movement will show Scouting is a sort of team game. Good Scouting depends on a lot of things and a lot of people. There are really five members of this Scouting team, each with an essential part to play."

Who are these five members?

He told me:

"Number one is the boy himself and there are more than three and a half million boy members of the Boy Scouts of America."

"Number two is the unit — the Cub Scout Pack, Boy Scout Troop or Explorer Post."

"Number three is the institution which sponsors the unit, the church, service club or other organization."

"Number four is the local council, like our Egyptian Council, which serves all phases of scouting in the southern part of the state."

"Fifth member of the team is the national organization, fostering Scouting all across our country."

"It takes real teamwork to provide quality Scouting."

He pointed out that although the most important investment each of the above makes in Scouting is not in terms of money but of time, interest, effort and loyalty, that each of the five members of the team does invest money.

"The boy pays his membership fee, buys his own uniform, books and equipment and pays dues," he said.

"In the unit," he continued, "the same training in self-reliance and competent management of one's own affairs is carried over into troop finance. A troop, for example, needs camping equipment such as tents and cooking gear. Its sources of income are weekly dues and approved money-earning efforts. Scouting units have shown unusual ingenuity and enterprise in development and carrying out projects to earn money."

"The parent institution assumes obligations, too, providing a scouting 'home' and providing competent, devoted leadership, with all necessary expenses being included in its operating budget."

He said that even after the boy, the unit and the institution have done everything possible, there are still factors needed such as training courses for scoutmasters and roundtables where programs are discussed, and the local council provides these. This council is a

FAIRFIELD, Ill. — Mrs. Agnes Shelton, mother of the notorious Shelton brothers, has died in Jacksonville, Fla., the Wayne County Press reported today. She was 82 years of age.

She had out-lived three of her sons who were killed in separate gunfights after terrorizing the Fairfield area for years. She and her husband, Ben, were regarded highly in the area.

Mrs. Shelton was buried this week in Jacksonville's Oak Lawn cemetery.

Bandits Rob Lincolnwood Bank

LINCOLNWOOD, Ill. — The Federal Bureau of Investigation today searched for three armed bandits who robbed the Bank of Lincolnwood of $2,000.

The three, wearing waist-length hoods, strode into the bank just before closing time Friday and, after forcing employees and patrons to lie on the floor, scooped up the money and fled.

Raymond Eiden, bank president, estimated the loss and said the robbers were driving a late model light green Oldsmobile.

Students Routed From Dance by High School Fire

SAVANA, Ill. (UP) — Some 300 students were routed from their spring formal dance by a fire that ravaged the Savanna High School building Friday night.

Two volunteer firemen were injured while battling the flames, which crackled for almost four hours before they were brought under control.

J. V. Wagner suffered a broken leg and Robert Lammers a broken ankle and face burns when a broken hose dashed them to the ground.

Fred Hungerford, Savanna fire chief, estimated damage at $400,000. He said the blaze was probably touched off by faulty wiring.

Families were evacuated when the flames threatened their nearby homes, but they were allowed to return after the fire was controlled.

Firemen from four neighboring communities rushed to the small Mississippi River town to help the local volunteers.

The school's old wooden section was built in 1902 and its stone portion was added 20 years later.

Judith Gidcumb Is Eliminated in Tri-State Contest

Judith Gidcumb, Saline county spelling champ, was the twelfth contestant to be eliminated in a field of 25 in the annual Tri-State Spelling contest held Friday at Evansville.

Miss Gidcumb, eighth grade pupil at Mitchellville school, competed against champions from 24 other counties in the tri-state area of Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky.

She was eliminated on the word "weird" spelling it "wierd." Winner this year was Mary Ellen Salmon, eighth grade seminary student from Madisonville, Ky., who was last year's runner-up.

Jodene McGee, Gallatin county champion, was eliminated on the word "suede" and Mose Frailey, Hardin county champ, bowed out on "insolent."

Accompanying Miss Gidcumb to Evansville were her teacher, Miss Lillie Durham, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gidcumb, and John Murphy, assistant county superintendent of schools.

Officials Believe King Hussein is Winning Fight

No Plans for Emergency Meetings
By Secretary Dulles

WASHINGTON (UP) — U. S. officials said today Jordan's King Hussein appears to be winning his fight over forces trying to overthrow him.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles planned to spend a quiet day at his home without going to his office. He expected to talk with some of his advisers at his house or by telephone.

Aides said Dulles did not plan to fly to Augusta, Ga., for talks with President Eisenhower either about Jordan or the secretary's trip to Europe next Tuesday for a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council.

Aides also reported there were no plans for any emergency meetings with congressional leaders when they return from their Easter recess.

Officials said the situation in Jordan could change for the worse. But they said the young king seemed to be winning his fight against leftist elements supported by Egypt and Syria.

American strategy during the emergency has involved the use of diplomacy and a show of naval might.

The mighty 6th Fleet is steaming toward the eastern Mediterranean. And the Navy announced Friday that a reinforced battalion of 1,800 Marines will leave Morehead City, N. C., next week by ship for the Mediterranean.

The Navy said the dispatching of the Marines has been scheduled since March 27 to relieve Marines already in the area. But it acknowledged unofficially that both battalions could be kept there if necessary.

T. C. Patterson, Former Brushy Resident, Dies

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. for Thomas Cleveland Patterson, 72, who died Thursday at 12:10 a. m. at Marion Memorial hospital, and who was born and reared in Brushy township, Saline county. His death followed a paralytic stroke and surgery.

He was a brother of Freeman E. Patterson, Harrisburg, Mrs. Emma Palmer, Bankston, and Earl Patterson, Marion, Willie Patterson, LaPorte, Ind., and Mrs. Pearl Butler, Marion. They are the descendants of the late Gilliam and Nancy Cragg Patterson of Brushy to marriage.

Thomas Cleveland Patterson was a railroader by occupation, employed until his retirement, by the Missouri Pacific as a maintenance worker. He had resided in Marion since his marriage. His wife, Olive, and a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Rigniato, and three sons, Cleo Patterson, Marion, Aud Patterson, Chicago, and Donald, at home, survive. A grandson whom they reared, Ronnie Patterson, also survives.

His body is at the Mitchell funeral home, Marion, where the funeral service will be held and burial will be at Maplewood cemetery, Marion.

Confessed Hatchet Murderer Receives 99-Year Sentence

CHICAGO (UP) — A confessed hatchet murderer was spared possible death in the electric chair because he pleaded guilty.

Arthur D. Bauer, 21, was sentenced to 99 years in prison by Criminal Court Judge James R. Bryant, for the vicious killing of Miss Rosemary McCarthy in a parking lot last September.

"This was a heinous and degrading crime," Bryant said after hearing Bauer's excuse that he was drunk at the time.

Bauer, the father of two children, confessed to fatally beating Miss McCarthy after she repulsed him.

New Plan Approved

Egypt's Handling of Suez Approved; Lodge Answers Soviet Blast at Fleet

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP) — Egypt emerged the clear-cut winner in the first United Nations session on its new plan to operate the Suez Canal, Western diplomatic sources said today.

They said that as long as President Gamal Abdel Nasser abides by the terms of the document he registered here as an "international instrument," he probably would run into no more organized opposition from the West.

Although the United States and several other nations reserved the right during the Security Council meeting Friday to make further remarks about the document, no further U. N. discussions were scheduled.

As a result, Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold completed plans to leave Sunday for Rome and an audience with Pope Pius XII on the world situation. He is due in Geneva Tuesday to attend a U. N. planning session.

Not a single nation publicly came to the support of Russia's charge during the Security Council meeting that the United States sought to "show the fist" to the Middle East with its 6th Fleet.

Soviet delegate Arkady A. Sobolev also charged that the West "dragged out the scarecrow of international Communism" in Jordan.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge quickly dealt with the charges.

"There is nothing in the Eisenhower Doctrine which need bother anyone who does not contemplate violent deeds," he said. "If the Soviet delegate did not harbor dreams of domination and of subversion of suffering peoples, similar to the monstrous Soviet subversion of Hungary of tragic memory, he would not be bothered by these American undertakings."

He said the 6th Fleet "is in international waters. It is on the high seas where it has every right to be."

Claim Egypt Will Demand UN Forces Leave

Report Dissension
Among Jordan's
Arab Neighbors

BULLETIN

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP) — The White House today denied an Egyptian newspaper report that President Eisenhower had received a note from the Soviet government warning against American intervention in Jordan.

"We have no such note, either in the White House or the department of State," Press Secretary James Hagerty said.

By United Press

An Egyptian newspaper said today the Soviet Union has sent a note to President Eisenhower warning the United States to "keep its hands off Jordan."

There was no immediate confirmation of the report in other capitals but it immediately recalled the exchange of notes between Britain and France and Russia prior to the Anglo-French Suez invasion.

The report, published in the Egyptian government newspaper Al Gomhouria, was contained in a dispatch from its New York correspondent who said he learned of the note "from private channels."

The story said the note warned Eisenhower that "any interference in Jordan's internal affairs will have grave consequences on not only the Middle East but also on world peace."

Israel Sees New Blowup

In Jerusalem, informed Israeli sources said Egypt will start the next Middle East blowup with a demand that the United Nations Emergency Force leave strategic Sharm El Sheikh.

They said Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser would use this in an attempt to re-unite his Arab allies who have fallen out over how to deal with the victory of pro-Western King Hussein of Jordan.

The Israeli sources said that if the move were successful it would lead to renewed attack by Egyptian shore batteries on Israeli shipping passing through the Straits of Tiran at the mouth of the gulf.

A dispatch from United Press correspondent Joe Morris in Amman said Jordan was quiet today but that Moscow and Cairo radios had launched propaganda attacks directly at King Hussein.

He said Moscow Radio accused the King of collaborating with "American imperialism" against the will of the people.

Military Control Easing

A Jordanian army spokesman said some authority was being handed over to local officials. Informed sources predicted a gradual relaxation of the tight military control.

Dispatches from Israel, Iraq and Washington supported reports from Jordan itself that King Hussein had gained firm control of his country again and had the pro-Communist elements on the run.

Telephone communications with the Jordan capital of Amman were suspended indefinitely but cables, presumably censored, were getting out of the country.

Direct dispatches from Amman said as many as 600 persons, mainly from leftist parties sympathetic to former Premier Suleiman Na-

Beck's Explanation

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
In a sense every nickel that was spent in clearing the Suez Canal of sunken vessels was a waste, for the original blocking was an absurd act of revenge by Egyptian President Nasser against the British and French.

Nevertheless, since the act was committed, it is gratifying to learn that the clearing operation was far less costly than was estimated.
The United Nations says the job
was done for 11 million dollars, whereas a 40-million-dollar outlay
had been expected.

This is a fine tribute to the U.
N. mission which did the salvage work under command of Lt. Gen.
Raymond Wheeler, retired chief of the U. S. Army Engineers.

Supervising 32 salvage craft from Yugoslavia, Denmark, Holland, Italy, Belgium, Sweden and West Germany, Wheeler pushed the job to completion a month ahead of schedule. The 438 crew members helped to remove 40 sunken vessels and such other obstructions as demolished bridge girders.

Wheeler had to contend, too, with the obstinate delays imposed by Nasser and other Egyptian officials.

The performance was an example of the sort of international collaboration that is possible when the stakes are sufficiently high and when the will to achieve an objective is strong.

Equipment from the different countries was smoothly coordinated, and technical men labored efficiently side by side despite marked language difficulties.

General Wheeler and all those involved in this work deserve the warmest thanks from the people of Britain, France, the United States and all such other nations
as rely in greater or less degree
upon the Suez Canal for the transport of oil and other essential materials of industrial life.

If the politicians could clean up
Middle Eastern affairs as the engineers cleared the canal, we might look forward to a genuine,
lasting settlement of difficulties.
The lesson is sharply pointed.

Cooperation IS Possible

Having tried almost every other
role in search of public sympathy, Teamster Boss Dave Beck now is wrapping himself in the mantle
of the martyr.

Beck of course concedes that he "borrowed" up to $300,000 in union funds, but doesn't say what he did with the money. He also insists he repaid it. The Senate Labor Rackets Committee isn't satisfied with the whereabouts of some $320,000 in union funds.

Beck's latest is that in refusing to tell the committee how he used the money he is "taking the rap" for a "lot of fine people" who otherwise would be terribly embarrassed.

He implies that some of the money was used for political campaign contributions, but offers no
detail, naturally.

There's just one thing wrong with this newest defense. No politician or any other outsider has any power over the Teamsters' treasury. Beck and his fellow union officers have charge of that.
If they employ its funds in an unauthorized manner, the "rap" is theirs by rights, and belongs to no one else.

Beck's shoulders are broad enough, but he'll have to find some other mantle to put around them.

The ancient Romans made alloys for tin and lead and used them for soldering, much as they are used today.

"You Can Go Home—You've Convinced Me"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Chances Of Disarmament
Look Better; Ex-Senator And
Ex-Cowboy Turns Wig-Maker; Budget Slashes Will Make
Minimum Wage Enforcement
Difficult.

WASHINGTON. — A significant development has taken place in U. S. disarmament negotiations, and in the life of disarmament negotiator Harold Stassen.

John Foster Dulles has begun to like "the childe Harold."
This is important. It wasn't the case before. Stassen, once referred to as "the wonder boy" when he became a young prodigy governor of Minnesota, was formerly deputy in the Dulles doghouse. When Harold held a background press conference last December to paint
a rosy view of Russian disarmament proposals, Dulles, then in Paris, held a background next day to tell the press how wrong Harold was.

Stassen was then working directly under White House orders.
Because Dulles didn't like either him or this arrangement, Stassen was transferred to the State Department, where he would have to take orders direct from the Secretary of State.

Stassen has been a good sport
about this, continued to work hard for disarmament, and, believe it or not, Dulles has come to like him. He has been impressed by Stassen's negotiating ability, now shares his view that there is definitely a chance to make some hay with the Russians on disarmament.

Stassen has detected an apparent desire on the part of the Russians to wrap up some kind of disarmament agreement. This coincides with a rather favorable report from retiring Ambassador Charles Bohlen that the Kremlin is concentrating on domestic problems, doesn't want war.
Result is that Stassen has gone back to Europe with the green light from both the President and the secretary of state to go all-out for a disarmament agreement.

WIG-MAKING EX-SENATOR
Idaho's bewigged ex-Sen. Glenn Taylor, who lost by a hair in the Democratic primary to young Frank Church, is about to enter the wig-making business.

The ex-senator, who ran for vice president with Henry Wallace in 1948, will call his hairpiece the "Taylor topper." It will be nationally advertised.

Taylor is an ex-cowboy who strummed and sang his way into the Senate in 1944, made a good record in the Senate, but got carried away by Henry Wallace's progressive friends in 1948. Now retired to private life, Taylor has already made a few toupees for friends and wears one himself.
The secret is dental plastic, the stuff dentists use to take "impressions" for casting gold inlays.

Taylor uses the same plastic to take "impressions" of his clients' bald pate. Then he attaches hair to the plastic, assuring the wearer a perfect fit.

Glenn came by his new profession as the result of 25 years in show business, in the course of which he lost his hair. Taylor says he got tired of the gibes of his friends about crooked dome and began to sport a toupee. He also began experimenting with wig-making techniques, eventually hitting upon the dental-plastic idea.

MERRY-GO-ROUND
A member of the Eisenhower cabinet, believe it or not, was a substantial contributor to Americans for Democratic Action, the liberal political group which carries on the traditions of FDR.

ADA discovered during a recent housecleaning that Secretary of Labor Jim Mitchell contributed $100 when ADA was launched 10 years ago. . . Those who met

Mexico's charming comic Cantinflas at the Mexican embassy the other night say he's done American-Mexican relations more good than the U. S.-Mexican presidential confab at White Sulphur Springs last year. Mexican Ambassador Manuel Tello gave a jam-packed reception for the movie star after "Around The World in 80 Days" opened in Washington. . . CAB Chairman James R.
Dulles expects domestic air travel to exceed rail travel for the first time next year. . . U.
S. Chamber of Commerce officials are wondering if they weren't too successful in their campaign for government "economy."

House economists took the cue from the chamber by eliminating the business and defense services administration of the Commerce Department, the chamber's chief lobby for big business in the government.

UNDERCUTTING LABOR LAWS
Republicans who don't believe in Ike's "modern Republicanism," plus conservative Democrats, have more method than madness
in cutting key portions of the budget.

Certain significant slices will undercut certain laws which the solons don't want enforced. Take, for example, the $200,000 slice out of the office of the solicitor of the Labor Department. The public doesn't understand what this means, but it will result in the firing of 35 lawyers from the solicitor's department.

This, in turn, will mean that the Minimum Wage act, the Walsh-Healy act, and the Davis-Bacon act will not be enforced.

These are laws which conservative Republicans-Democrats voted against in the first place, and the easiest way to undercut them is to hack away at their enforcement appropriation.

The Davis-Bacon act requires contractors to pay the prevailing wage of government construction contracts. The Walsh-Healy act sets wages on government contracts other than construction.
The Fair Labor Standards act sets minimum wages in all industry which comes under the act.

Stewart Rothman, the Eisenhower labor solicitor, has been doing a better job of enforcing these laws than the Democrats did. But he can't do it without lawyers. And if he has to fire 35 lawyers, the laws won't be enforced.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE
When he isn't battling with Congress, Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield gets a chuckle out of postal oddities such as these: A San Diego clerk named

When Sebree, Ky., extended rural carrier T. G. Robard's route nine miles to include Bill Gibson's new home, farmer Gibson expressed his thanks by leaving a hot, fried chicken in his roadside mailbox. . .
Reason Secretary Dulles
picked his young assistant, Roderic O'Connor, to be State Department security officer is to prevent any more conspiring with congressional investigators. Dulles was happy to name Scott Mc-Leod, Joe McCarthy's friend, as ambassador to Ireland in order to get him out of the department.
But he flatly refused to name any of McLeod's friends as his replacement. Instead he picked young O'Connor, a former Air Force bombardier and a good man.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

The wrong mental attitude on the part of motorists has resulted in an untold number of accidents and deaths.

One example is the driver who does not dim his "brights" when approaching another car. His attitude is, "What's the difference. He'll be past in a second."

Another example of improper mental attitude is illustrated by the driver who matches the speed of a car trying to pass him. Obviously,
such an act could result in a serious accident.

Of course, as we all know, there will always be the driver who is in such a hurry that he is willing to risk his life for the savings of a few seconds. One example of such a driver with the incorrect mental attitude is the motorist who drives
as close as possible to the vehicle in front of him in order to let the driver in the front car know he's going too slowly to suit the driver
in the following car.

Named Days

The ancient Romans were the first people to name the days of the week after gods in mythology.
The seven days of the week were named after the sun, moon and the five major planets which then were known.

During 1955, about 11,600 books
were published in the United States
—four-fifths were new, the rest

Girl Scouting

NEIGHBORHOOD MEETING AT HARRISBURG METHODIST CHURCH ON APRIL 29

Camp film slides will be shown April 29 at 7 p. m. at the Methodist church. All mothers and girls in the intermediate scout level should attend this meeting. Miss Mabel Webb, Scout director of King Coal, will show film slides of the scout camp at Little Grassy and give more information about the camp.

If your child is an intermediate or senior scout, whether you plan on sending her to camp this summer or not, why not stop at the church for a half hour and learn more about the camp we have in this area? This camp was written up in the National Leaders magazine and praised. Last year, among other things, the camp added a dining room building with a modern, well equipped kitchen, a complete water system, and a shower house. More buildings and additions are planned this year.

Following the showing of the film, there will be a Neighborhood Association meeting for the officers, leaders, assistant leaders, and committee women. This will be the last meeting this year.

This year many donated a dollar toward the restoration of the Juliette Low home in Savannah, Ga. Last year, Mrs. Raymond Debes visited the house and was taken on a tour through it by Juliette Low's niece. She will be at the meeting to give a first hand story of the house.

Mrs. Capel has planned a nature study training session for this meeting. At the last meeting, Mrs. Capel showed how to make puppets from paper bags and act out stories. The leaders attending this session enjoyed the project and took it back for their troops to participate in.

Jobs in Illinois

Hit Record

Mid-March Total

CHICAGO (AP)—Jobs in Illinois hit a record mid-March total, State Director of Labor Roy F. Cummins said today.

He said employment at mid-March totaled 3,479,500. The figure does not cover farm employment. The mid-March total was 9,000 more than mid-February and 15,500 more than mid-March of last year, Cummins said.

He attributed the upswing primarily to seasonal gains. Employment in construction gained 8,100 from mid-February to mid-March, he said. Other increases were 1,500 in trade, 500 in government and 400 in the finance-insurance-real estate field.

In the month period, Cummins said, employment in the mining industry dropped 400 and in the transportation - communication - public utility industries, 300.

By WILLIAM EWALD

"CBS-TV has decided to replace "Giant Step" next fall with "I Love Lucy" re-runs. Kate Smith has been practicing a soft shoe dance all week—she'll unveil it on her ABC special show this Sunday.

QUESTION:

As a result of the recent automobile insurance rate changes approved in Illinois, will anyone receive a lower rate?

ANSWER:

Yes. Youthful female automobile operators are no longer classified at a higher rate classification because of their age. They take the regular rate now.

Recount by Yoo Hoo Yemm Finds 12 Wives, Not 9

CHICAGO (AP)—An unofficial re-count indicated today that Walter (Yoo Hoo) Yemm, an energetic businessman, had 12 wives.

"I thought there were only nine, but I just happened to remember three more," he told authorities.

Yemm, 47, seemed to recall that he divorced two of his wives. "Another one, Corinne I think, called up one day and said she was getting a divorce," Yemm said. "Do you suppose that counts?"

Asst. State's Atty. Patrick Egan said Yemm's marital adventures pose a problem. "We can't figure out which of all these women was his legal wife," Egan said. "And we've got to know that if we're going to prosecute him for bigamy."

Yemm was tripped up when he tried to marry again. The new woman in his life got suspicious and asked police to check on Yemm.

Detectives uncovered a virtual harem, including Yemm's current spouses, the former Beverly Simms, 31, a typist, and the former Wilma Pyzik, 48, a clerical worker, both of Chicago.

At first Yemm admitted he had six un-divorced wives. Later he rolled off seven names. These, with the two he divorced, made nine. Then he came up with three others.

MARTINSVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Eleven persons, including seven children, were in a Paris hospital today in serious condition from burns suffered in a six-car collision Friday night.

The cars piled up on U. S. 40 and flaming gasoline from one of the car's split fuel tank sprayed over the wreckage.

Immigration is Subject of Debate At High School

A debate was recently presented at a general assembly at HTHS by Miss Alvina Shestak's U. S. History students.

The subject of the debate was "Immigration." Karen Skaggs was the moderator of the panel. The panel for the affirmative consisted of Sandra Kihlmire, Linda Adams, and William Humm. Marcia Pierson, Eddie Quade, and Roger Wiley composed the panel for the negative.

Members of the panel gave a four minute talk each, in which they expressed their views on the subject. After both sides had presented their cases, Linda Adams presented the affirmative closing remarks and Eddie Quade presented the negative closing remarks. Eltis Hensen, principal, stated, "Through the school year, we have had many lyceums. However I would like to encourage more students to participate in these lyceums."

Federal Reserve Predicts Third More Income by '65

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—A federal reserve official predicts that Americans will have one-third more spending money by 1965.

J. L. Robertson of Washington, member of the Federal Reserve System board of governors, estimates that the gross total production eight years from now will be 550 billion dollars, as compared to 412 billion dollars this year.

"Under these conditions," he said, "disposable personal income in 1965 might be up as much as one-third—over 100 billion dollars more for the American people to spend annually."

"This is not only possible, but probable," Robertson told the 23rd annual convention of the Independent Bankers Assn. Friday.

Ike Selects Envoy to Russia

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower today selected a new American ambassador to Russia, Llewellyn E. Thompson, now the envoy to Austria.

Thompson's nomination will be sent to the Senate next week after the end of the congressional Easter recess.

Thompson will succeed Charles E. Bohlen who has been reassigned to the Philippine republic.

Eisenhower also ordered two other changes in the American diplomatic corps: Don C. Bliss, now the foreign service inspector in the State Department, will replace Joseph Simonson as ambassador to Ethiopia. Simonson recently resigned.

Walter P. McCaughy, now director of Chinese affairs in the State Department, will be the new ambassador to Burma, succeeding Joseph C. Satterthwaite who will be reassigned to another post in the foreign service.

group of volunteers organized to meet these needs in a given area. "The council executive board," he said, "is made up of outstanding men from every part of the council territory and it determines how much money is needed for good Scouting operation for one year. That becomes the council budget which is raised in the many communities within the council area."

"Fifth members of the team, the national council, provides all the scouting literature, including books for boys and leaders, training course materials, material on programs and other items. Such a program of national service costs money, of course. Most comes from two sources—one the annual registration fee of fifty cents per year per boy and $1 per year for each adult leader, and the other is the profits from the National Supply Service."

"If we boil it all down, it seems we must conclude the Scouting movement is a group of volunteers each in his own way co-operating to help tomorrow's men be better boys today. It all fits in so nicely with the great idea that voluntary co-operation is a vital part of the American system."

It takes a GIANT to speed up traffic

It takes a giant highway to speed up automotive traffic and it takes a giant medium to speed up sales traffic. That medium is the daily newspaper, a giant that lives in every town from coast to coast.

Reader traffic in the daily newspaper is greater than ever. According to Sindlinger & Co., statistical analysts, newspaper reader traffic hit an all-time high of 100,000,000 on an average day in January.

Reader traffic leads to sales traffic. The greater the traffic the greater the opportunity for retailers, wholesalers, distributors and regional manufacturers to sell more goods to more people.

Your newspaper makes it easier for you to reach more prospects in your trading area. Use the direct route to sales. Use the daily newspaper.

named today to receive the George Polk Memorial Award of the Overseas Press Club for the

tional courage and enterprise abroad."

Jones covered the revolution in

Russians moved in and put down
the revolt.

The club's citation of excellence
for the best newspaper commentary went to United Press foreign

a veteran of 40 years with the wire service.

McCann was runner-up to American Broadcasting Co. commen-

York Times and William L. Ryan of the Associated Press.

The awards will be presented at a dinner here May 6. The Polk Award to Jones includes $500, an

For Meat Producers Outlook Is Good

High employment and incomes and the American liking for meat in the diet point toward a gradually rising market for livestock products.

R. L. Coppersmith, extension livestock economist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, believes that livestock production will continue to expand gradually over the next few years.

Prices for the products will be reasonably satisfactory to producers, too, he says.

There'll be a slowing down, however, of the spectacular advances in meat production that have taken place in the past few years. Since 1951, meat output has climbed from 22 to 23 billion pounds, an increase of 28 percent.

In 1956 consumers were treated to their largest serving of meat since consumption records have been kept. On the average they ate about 163½ pounds per person, topping the previous high record of 162½ pounds per person in 1908.

Unfortunately for producers, overly large supplies had a depressing effect upon prices. Experience shows, according to Coppersmith, that when supplies exceed 160 pounds per person—as they did last year—prices fall to a level below that acceptable to producers.

By Albert Meyer
Farmers with a brood of young pullets intended for laying flock replacements next fall should be getting them out on a range of good legume or legume-grass pasture.

Of course, the time for placing these young chickens on range will depend upon when the chicks were started in the brooder house. Poultry specialists at Southern Illinois University and elsewhere say that young pullets usually are ready for the range when they are from seven to nine weeks old. That means that chicks started during February are about ready for putting on pasture in April.

One of the desirable factors in successfully managing laying flocks is to get the chickens into production early enough to be laying at a desirable rate during the period when egg prices are highest. Generally the best egg prices come between July and October although farmers got comparatively low returns for eggs all last year. To hit the higher market poultrymen advise getting replacement chicks early enough so that the pullets will start laying in July or August.

The light breeds, such as Leghorns, mature in five to six months. General purpose breeds may require a month longer. To make this goal, flock owners ought to get their replacement chicks started during February—not a difficult task with suitable brooding equipment and methods. A 10-by-12-foot brooder house is large enough to start 250 chicks.

A good poultry range serves a dual purpose. A major one is reducing disease hazards. Here the poultryman separates the young pullets from the accumulation of disease germs and parasites that are likely to be around the laying house and any adjacent poultry yard. Of course, success depends on rotating the range area so that the pullets will not occupy the same area two or more years in succession.

The second purpose of the range is to reduce feed costs substantially. Plenty of alfalfa or ladino clover in the range forage will provide feed of reasonably high protein value and give good pullet growth. Some surveys have shown that good pastures have reduced feed consumption by as much as 17 percent. It also will be possible to cut down on the protein content in the growing mash.

The problem of feeding and watering poultry on the ranges is one that causes some farmers to hesitate putting this practice into effect. Obviously, the system means either carrying water and feed in substantial quantities or making use of labor saving devices. If there is a pressure water system on the farm, a temporary or permanent water line to the area and the use of automatic floats in the water troughs will simplify the watering problem. If the pressure system is not available, water barrels on skids for easy moving, equipped with automatic floats to regulate the water flow, will serve the same purpose.

Feeding may be further simplified by the use of hopper feeders that will hold enough feed for more than one day. Protecting mash feeds from rain and providing feeding facilities in the range shelters must be considered. Covered feeders attached to the sides of the shelters and opening into the structures have been quite satisfactory in SIU designed shelters for giving birds ample feeding opportunity while sheltered from bad weather.

Big Yields And Acreage Switches Offset Restrictions

Illinois Favored by Good Weather
Crop production is very high this year in spite of acreage restrictions on major crops and extreme drought in the Great Plains. This high production, together with price-support programs authorized by Congress, seems likely to keep excess stocks at record levels for another year.

Crops are especially good in most of the eastern half of the nation and in the Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast states. Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri, Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio had near-perfect crops.

Extended drought severely damaged crops in the Great Plains. The area of greatest damage is a belt about 500 miles wide, beginning with Texas and extending northward over Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, western Iowa, South Dakota and Montana. Less severe drought cut crop yields in the southern states.

Corn, the nation's No. 1 crop, is estimated at 3,336 million bushels—3 percent more than last year and the second largest crop ever produced. The largest, 3,605 million bushels, was produced in 1948.

The Illinois corn crop is by far the best ever produced. The average yield is estimated at 66 bushels an acre compared with 56 last year and a ten-year average of 52.6. Total Illinois production is estimated at 587 million bushels—more than in any other state.

With more corn than last year and with fewer hogs to feed, the carry-over of corn will increase again.

The soybean crop is estimated at 462 million bushels—24 percent more than last year's record crop and 82 percent more than the ten-year average. Largely because of acreage restrictions on wheat, cotton and corn, farmers increased soybean acreage from 14 million in 1950-53 to 21 million this year. It seems quite possible that not ity while sheltered from bad weather.

The SIU portable shelters are 10-by-12-foot, A-shaped structures on skids with the bottom and opposite ends open for good summer ventilation. The open areas are covered with one-inch or one-by-two-inch mesh welded wire.

Handle Farm Tractors With Care

URBANA—Farm tractor accidents now take more than 1,000 lives annually.

O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, suggests that all operators be properly instructed, as the spring work season increases the chances of tractor accidents.

Remember, too, that fatigue is often a factor in farm accidents, Hogsett says.

Excessive speed is the No. 1 cause of tractor accidents. Defective wheel brakes, rough roads or a quick turn can bring tragedy if your speed is too high.

Teen-aged tractor operators have far too many accidents. Work with these youngsters, and see that they receive careful instruction and supervision until they are fully qualified.

Also ranking high on the list of all of this production will be used or exported this year and that carry-over stocks will begin to accumulate.

The 1956 wheat crop now is estimated at 967 million bushels compared with 937 million a year ago. Because use and exports seem likely to be lower than production, excess stocks are expected to increase to a new record high.

accident causes is the extra rider. A tractor was not built to carry extra passengers safely. Children in particular too often meet with serious injury or death as extra riders.

One-third of all tractor fatalities occur on public roads. Mile for mile, it's much safer to operate an automobile on public roads than to operate a tractor. The heavier the traffic, the greater the hazard. Try to plan your work to reduce the exposure of slow-moving tractors and farm machinery to traffic hazards. If you need to run machinery on the road at dusk or during darkness, you must have it properly lighted. During the daylight hours, a red flag on a tall staff will help to draw attention of the motorist to the hazard of slow-moving machinery.

Average date of the last killing frost in the spring is a good general guide to follow when you plant garden vegetables.

Fire took 3,000 farm family lives and destroyed $152,000,000 worth of farm property in 1956.

FARMERS... INCLUDE WHITE CORN IN YOUR CROP ROTATION PLANS

NEIGHBORS... WHITE CORN IS JUST AS GOOD FOR FEED IN A BALANCED RATION AS YELLOW CORN.

- HERE ARE THE FACTS
1. One of your greatest opportunities for larger CASH profits is WHITE CORN ... Over a period of years WHITE CORN has consistently brought a premium over yellow corn and should continue to do so.
 2. Many reliable sources report that WHITE HYBRID SEED CORN now available is as good and in many cases better than yellow corn in yield, resistance to drought, insects, winds and other hazards.
 3. WHITE CORN is just as good for feed in a balanced ration as yellow corn.
 4. Corn Millers want WHITE CORN. Should the Corn Millers of this country be forced to import WHITE CORN because of a substantial decrease in WHITE CORN production, the American Farmer will be the loser.
 5. Year in and year out your best CASH corn crop has been WHITE CORN.

"Book of Beginnings"

Genesis 2:4-9, 15-22
GOLDEN TEXT: "And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life: and man became a living soul." (Genesis 2:7)

INTRODUCTION: My science teacher in college said one day to our class: "Many strange ideas concerning the origin of all matter and of man have been put forth in a speculative sort of way." "As for me," he continued, "I am willing to rest the whole case on Genesis 1:1." I appreciated his words then, and I have come to appreciate them more since.

If a person is going to live the right kind of life, he is going to have to believe in the God who created him. If a person did not believe that God did create him, he would certainly have no incentive to live righteously.

Men have made great strides in the field of science. However, the scientists have learned very little about the origin of life. They can make a seed that will look exactly like any seed of nature, but they cannot put life into their manufactured seeds. Only God can do that.

I. GOD MADE THE HEAVENS AND THE EARTH (vv. 4-6)

The Bible is quite clear concerning the origin of the heavens and the earth. We are told here that God did create the heavens and the earth and every plant and herb of the field. Another thing, God had not caused it to rain upon the earth. He caused a mist to go up out of the earth, and this mist watered the whole face of the ground.

II. GOD FORMED MAN (v. 7)
Up until this time there was no man to till the earth. God then formed man out of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life. Man became a living soul. Only the all-wise God, our heavenly Father could do this.

In the chapter before this we see that man was created by God in His own likeness. God gave Adam and Eve life. We are born of man and woman, and God, also, gives us life. He has the power to give life and the power to take it away. Our likeness of God is a moral, intellectual and spiritual likeness. The likeness cannot be physical, because God is not physical. He is a spiritual being.

III. MAN IN GOD'S GARDEN (vv. 8, 9, 15-17)

After God had formed man, He made a beautiful garden "eastward in Eden." It was the most beautiful garden the world has ever known. It had in it every thing that man needed for perfect existence and happiness. All man had to do to enjoy it forever was just to be obedient to God. We shall see in next week's lesson that man was not obedient.

IV. GOD MADE ALL LIVING CREATURES (vv. 18-20)

God said: "It is not good that man should be alone." Therefore, God, out of the ground, "formed every beast of the field, and every fowl of the air." God then gave Adam the happy privilege of naming every living creature. In this God shows that He had confidence in the intelligence of the man he had created.

V. GOD MADE WOMAN (vv. 21-22)

As if all the above mentioned activities were not enough, God did something wonderful for man. He caused Adam to fall into a deep sleep. While he slept, God removed one of his ribs. Out of this rib, God created the first woman. Note the words: God brought her unto man." This is the first marriage upon earth. God brought these two together. We believe that God intends for one man and one woman to be brought together in love and that this union is for a life-time.

CONCLUSION

Genesis is the "book of beginnings." We see here the beginning of all things. This means that God created the earth and heavens. He formed every living creature on the earth. He formed man out

WE ALL HAVE OUR DREAMS

Yes, we all have our dreams. Perhaps sometimes, they are mere projections of our selfishness... hopes unfair to others... ambitions dangerous to ourselves.

But often, they are healthy, honest aspirations... opportunities which zeal deserves... victories which justice demands.

Is it wrong to dream such dreams? Does God frown on honest hope and love?

Of course not! Rather, God has given us minds able to dream, and souls courageous enough to seek the difficult—even the impossible.

But the Divine Architect helps man to model his castles in the air, and provides the tools for their building. With faith and the guidance of the Church a man may realize hopes and aims which a cynical world calls futile.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

of dust and woman out of the rib of man. God created man in His own likeness and gave him dominion over all things in the earth. We enjoy many wonderful benefits of science today. Bassey Upsets

Miguel Berrios

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hogan (Kid) Bassey's manager threatened today to return to England "unless we can sign up a feather-weight title fight within two or three days."

Manager George Biddle made the statement following the dazzling American debut Friday night of the powerfully-built Bassey, British Empire champion from Nigeria Africa. Bassey overwhelmed Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico by brute force in their nationally-televised 12-round bout to score a unanimous upset victory. Bassey entered the ring a 9-5 underdog.

The fight was billed as an elimination bout with the winner to meet Cherif Hamia of France for the vacant world title.

In Montreal, Hamia's manager, Philippe Felippi, indicated willingness to match his fighter with Bassey for the crown.
